PETITION FOR REVIEW

TO THE HONORABLE RONALD M. GEORGE, CHIEF JUSTICE, AND TO THE HONORABLE ASSOCIATE JUSTICES OF THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA:

Petitioner Frank McCormick petition his court for review following the decision of the Court of Appeal, Sixth Appellate District, filed in that court on January 12, 2007. A copy of the denial is attached hereto as Exhibit "A".

QUESTION PRESENTED

1. Is the Board of Parole Hearings violating Petitioner's State and Federal Due Process Rights when parole suitability determinations are not supported by "some evidence" and was the "some evidence" standards correctly applied in this case?

2. Can the California Board of Parole Hearings continue to deny parole based on the commitment offense after Petitioner has served more than the maximum suggested Base Term established by California Code of Regulations, Division 2, Article 11, section 2403 (b)?

3. Did the Board of Parole Hearings Violate Petitioner's constitutional right to a protected liberty interest when they denied him parole suitability without evidence having an indicia of reliability that Petitioner's release would pose a present unreasonable risk of danger to society?

4. Did the Board of Parole Hearings deny Petitioner his Due Process and Equal Protection of the law by denying parole based on factors that are immutable?

NECESSARY FOR REVIEW

A grant of review and resolution of these issues by this court are necessary to secure uniformity of decisions and to settle important questions of law. The need for uniformity of decisions is demonstrated by a comparison of this case with Rosenkrantz v. Marshall, (C.D.Cal. 2006) 444 F.Supp 2d. 1063, 1065, 1070; Robert Everett Johnson v. Claude E. Finn, No. CIV S-05-0385 DFL GGH P (January 19, 2006); Martin v. Marshall, 431 F.Supp. 2d.; Irons v. Warden of California State Prison-Solano, (E.D.Cal. 2005) 358 F.Supp. 2d. 936. and other cases that were adjudicated by California state courts.

In In re Smith, (2003) 114 Cal.App. 4th. 343, the Sixth District Court of Appeal found that there was not some evidence that Petitioner Smith's crime was any more callous than an average second degree murder, yet the same court denied Petitioner's writ and the crime was not as callous as the crime Smith committed. There was nothing to "distinguish th[e] crime from other second degree murders." The Second District Court of Appeal, in the case of another

1 life term inmate named Smith, similarly found no evidence 2 to support a parole denial based on the commitment offense.
3 (In re Smith, 109 Cal.App. 4th. 489.) In In re Scott, (2004)
4 119 Cal.App. 4th. 871, the First District Court of Appeal
5 reversed the parole Board's standard statement of reliance 6 on the gravity of the offense because in truth, "the relevant 7 evidence show[ed] no more callous disregard for human 8 suffering than is shown by most second degree murder 9 offenses."

10 Petitioner respectfully submit that viewing these cases 11 together and then reviewing Petitioner's case, demonstrates 12 the lack of uniformity in the application of the due process 13 standards, and further demonstrates that the decision in 14 the instant case conflicts with the recently announced Federal 15 due process standards delineated in Biggs v. Terhune, supra, 16 914 916-917, because the decision was not supported by "some 17 [post-conviction] evidence" satisfying the "indicia of 18 reliability" guidelines promulgated therein, as required 19 by the United States Constitution, Article I, section 15.

20 This case, while resting on state due process (Cal.
21 Const., art. I, §7, subd. (a)), compares favorable to cases 22 affording habeas corpus relief on federal due process grounds, 23 against parole denials for California inmates who had been 24 sentenced to terms of at least 15 years to life for second 25 degree murder.

26 ARGUMENT I

27 THE BOARD VIOLATED PETITIONER'S CONSTITUTIONAL 28 RIGHT TO DUE PROCESS AND DEPRIVED HIM OF A

1 FEDERALLY PROTECTED LIBERTY INTEREST WHEN 2 THEY ARBITRARILY AND CAPRICIOUSLY DENIED HIM 3 PAROLE SUITABILITY WITHOUT ANY SUPPORTING 4 EVIDENCE HAVING AN INDICIA OF RELIABILITY 5 THAT PETITIONER'S RELEASE WOULD POSE AN 6 UNREASONABLE RISK OF DANGER TO SOCIETY.

7 A. INTRODUCTION

8 On August 10, 1983, Seaside Police arrested Alfred 9 Emanuel "Bubba" Johnson, Jr. and Petitioner as suspects 10 in the shooting death of Stephen Edwards. Petitioner was 11 charged and convicted of second degree murder and received 12 a sentence of 15 years to Life plus two (2) years for a 13 gun enhancement. Petitioner, now 54 years old, entered 14 prison at the age of 32. Petitioner was received by the 15 Department of Correction on December 22, 1983 with a MIN.
 16 ADJ. RELEASE DATE (GT CR LOST/AT LARGE/BAIL) of 5-14-93.
 17 (See Exhibit "B", LEGAL STATUS (CDC 188c)).

18 Petitioner's Initial Consideration Hearing was held 19 on April 28, 1992. Petitioner has had twelve (12) subsequent 20 hearings where he was found to be unsuitable for parole.

21 B. THE BOARD OF PAROLE HEARINGS DECISION TO DENY PETITIONER
22 PAROLE SUITABILITY WAS NOT SUPPORTED BY "SOME EVIDENCE" 23 HAVING AN "INDICIA OF RELIABILITY."

24 At Petitioner's hearing, held on 11-14-05, the Board 25 denied Petitioner parole suitability for one (1) year 26 stating; "The main factor, or one of the main factors, is 27 the gravity of the offense, in that after reviewing the facts of this crime, it is the opinion of this Panel that 'the offense was carried out in a especially cruel and callous manner, in that the unarmed victim was shot at close

1 range at torso piercing his aorta resulting in his almost 2 immediate demise, and that according to the autopsy, he 3 died within minutes of having been shot." (See Exhibit 4 "C", DECISION PAGE 1, LL. 14-24).

5 In Biggs v. Tershune, supra., at pp. 914, 916-917, the 6 Court first held that because the "California parole scheme 7 [Penal Code §3041(b)] vest in every inmate a constitutionally 8 protected liberty interest" "protected by the procedural 9 safeguards of the Due Process Clause," "the evidence 10 underlying [every California Parole] Board [parole denial] 11 decision must have an indicia of reliability[,] and then 12 established parole decision standards for the Board to use 13 when weighing evidence, holding that;

14 "[While] the [California] parole board's sole 15 supporting reliance on the gravity of [a first 16 degree murder] offense [involving the killing 17 of a witness] and conduct prior to imprisonment 18 to justify denial of parole can initially 19 be justified as fulfilling the requirements 20 set forth by state law [,] over time, however, should [a Petitioner] continue to demonstrate exemplary behavior and evidence of rehabilitation, denying him parole simply because of the nature of [his] offense and prior conduct would raise serious questions involving his liberty in parole."

21 In one case, the court found due process violation 22 when the former Board of Prison Terms (BPT) denied parole, 23 as it had before, based solely on the gravity of the 24 commitment offense. (Rosenkrantz v. Marshall, (C.D.Cal.
 25 2006) 444 F.Supp. 2d. 1063, 1065, 1070.) The court reasoned 26 in pertinent part: "While relying upon petitioner's crime 27 as an indicator of his dangerousness may be reasonable for 28 some period of time, in this case, continued reliance on

1 such unchanging circumstances - after nearly two decades
 2 of incarceration and half a dozen parole suitability hearings 3 violates due process because petitioner's commitment offense 4 has been such an unreliable predictor of his present and 5 future dangerousness that it does not satisfy the 'some 6 evidence' standards. After nearly twenty years of 7 rehabilitation, the ability to predict a prisoner's future 8 dangerousness based simply on the circumstances of his or 9 her crime is nil."

10 In a second such case, former Governor Davis had 11 reversed a BPT suitability determination, stressing 12 principally the gravity of the commitment offense. (Martuin 13 v. Marshall, 431 F.Supp. 2d. at pp. 1040-1042), the court 14 turned to the factors surrounding and preceding the offense, 15 which included the 26-year-old petitioner fleeing the scene 16 of his fatally shooting a drug dealer acquaintance and 17 bystander in a blaze of gunfire at a restaurant, wounding 18 yet another bystander, and without seeking medical assistance 19 for any of his victims. The court reasoned; "[Petitioner] 20 has surpassed his minimum sentence, and has already been 21 found suitable for parole by two decision-making bodies.
 22 [¶]...[T]he court finds that there was no evidence to support 23 the Governor's reversal of petitioner's parole grant. As 24 the [BPT] found, petitioner has not had a significant 25 disciplinary violation since 1995. He has been in prison 26 for approximately twenty-six years and has taken advantage 27 of numerous rehabilitation and enrichment programs. He 28 has exceeded his minimum sentence by approximately six

1 years." The court went on to state; "The Governor's sole 2 reliance on 'the circumstances of the offense and conduct 3 prior to the offense' [citation], constitutes a due process 4 violation. The court finds no evidence to support any of 5 the Governor's reason for denying parole, and therefore 6 finds that the Superior Court's denial of [a] petition for 7 habeas corpus was objectively unreasonable." (Id. at pp.
 8 1047-1048.)

9 In Irons v. Warden of California State Prison-Solano, 10 (E.D.Cal. 2005) 358 F.Supp. 2d. 936, the court stated; 11 "[Important] in assessing any due process violation is the 12 fact that continuous reliance on unchanging circumstances 13 transforms an offense for which California law provides 14 eligibility for parole into a de facto life imprisonment 15 without the possibility of parole...."

16 The Petitioner in the herein cause has been incarcerated 17 for 23 actual years. Second Degree Murder carries a maximum 18 suggested base term of twenty-one years. (See CCR, Title 19 15, §2403(c).) With post-conviction credits available to 20 Petitioner, another seven (7) years, eight (8) months, 21 Petitioner has served a "Total Life Term" of thirty (30)
 22 years, Eight (8) months without committing another violent 23 crime that would prove that Petitioner would more than likely 24 pose an unreasonable risk of danger to society. The Board 25 has illegally denied Petitioner parole suitability nine 26 years and eight months past the Maximum Suggested Base Term.

27 ARGUMENT II

28 THE BOARD OF PAROLE HEARINGS DENIED PETITIONER

1 DUE PROCESS AND EQUAL PROTECTION OF THE LAW 2 BECAUSE IT HAS DENIED PAROLE SUITABILITY BASED 3 ON FACTORS OF THE CRIME WHICH ARE "IMMUTABLE".

4 While relying upon the nature of Petitioner's crime
5 as an indicator of his dangerousness if released from prison 6 may have been reasonable ten or fifteen years ago, but after 7 more than twenty-three (23) years of incarceration and 8 thirteen (13) parole suitability hearings violates due 9 process because Petitioner's commitment offense has become 10 such an unreasonable predictor of his present and future 11 dangerousness and it does not satisfy the "some evidence" standards.

12 California courts have stated; "The commitment offense
13 can negate suitability only if circumstances of the crime 14 reliably established by evidence in the record rationally 15 indicate that the inmate will present an unreasonable public 16 safety risk if released from prison Yet the predictive 17 value of the commitment offense may be very questionable 18 after a long period of time." (In re Scott, 133 Cal.App.
19 4th. at p. 595).

20 The length of actual time Petitioner has already served 21 is well beyond the Matrix for Second Degree Murder Committed 22 on or After November 8, 1978. The Board should not be 23 allowed to change a sentence that is set by statute, that 24 provides a sentence of 15 to 21 years and sentence Petitioner 25 to a term of twenty-five (25) years to Life, or Life Without 26 The Possibility Of Parole without evidence that Petitioner's 27 release would pose a danger to society. (See Penal Code 28 §3041 (b)).

1           The facts of the crime, or other unchanging factors
 2 can only effect Petitioner's parole suitability if he exhibit 3 the same behavior he did when he committed the crime. Other 4 wise, if the unchanged circumstances per se can be used 5 to deny parole suitability, the Petitioner will never be 6 suitable for parole because the circumstances of the crime
 7 will never change. So if one look at it from the Board 8 members perspective, parole suitability could be indefinitely 9 and forever delayed based on the nature of the offense.

10          In the PSYCHOLOGICAL EVALUATION FOR THE BOARD OF PRISON 11 TERMS dated August 29, 2003, under XIV. ASSESSMENT OF 12 DANGEROUSNESS: THE DOCTOR STATED:

13          "A. This inmate has not received any further 14 CDC-115 violations since the last report four 15 years ago. Therefore, it is felt that he 16 would pose a less than average risk for 17 violence when compared to this Level II inmate 18 population.

19          B. If released to the community, his violence 20 potential is estimated to be no higher than 21 the average citizen in the community."

22          (See Exhibit "D", PAGE FOUR)

23          Penal Code §5068 requires the California Department 24 of Corrections (now the Department of Corrections and 25 Rehabilitation), to conduct and submit to the Board a 26 psychological evaluation on persons appearing for parole 27 consideration. The Board ask the CDC experts to specifically 28 address the question of the prisoner's "dangerousness".
 The format agreed upon between the Board and CDC officials instructs the CDC experts to rate the prisoner's
 "DANGEROUSNESS" in terms of "violent potential". The CDC's Departmental Operations Manual (DOM) 62090.13 directs the

1 conclusion to be reported by the experts as either: "below
2 average", "average" or "greater than average" violence 3 potential. Once Petitioner has obtained a "below average 4 violence potential" rating from a psychological evaluation, 5 he has obtained the most favorable rating for release he 6 can obtain. The Board panel members are not qualified 7 professionals and for them to make contrary determinations 8 of Petitioner's potential for violence or dangerousness 9 reported by qualified psychologists, trained and hired by 10 CDC to make such determinations and assessments, they are 11 violating Petitioner's due process and equal protection 12 of the law.

13 In short, the burden is not on Petitioner to prove 14 that he is suitable, instead, the parole authority is only 15 relieved of its obligation to set a release date if there 16 is a legitimate concern that Petitioner would pose a threat 17 of future violence if released. Such a decision must be 18 based on Petitioner's violence potential and threat now, 19 not what it was twenty-three (23) years ago.

20 The circumstances of Petitioner's crime do not amount 21 to some evidence supporting the conclusion that Petitioner 22 now poses an unreasonable risk of danger if released. "Some 23 evidence", does not mean literally "any" evidence, and 24 without evidence in the record that Petitioner's release 25 would pose an unreasonable risk of danger to society now, 26 the Board has no foundation for their decision that 27 Petitioner is unsuitable for parole. Thus, the Board has 28 violated Petitioner's constitutionally protected liberty

1 interest in being released on parole.

2 CONCLUSION

3 For the afore mentioned reasons, Petitioner respectfully
4 request this Court grant review, or remand this case back 5 to the appellate court to bring up to date the guidance 6 provided in the cases mentioned herein, and to insure 7 uniformity of decision making in the lower courts on issues 8 frequently litigated, and to settle questions of law, so 9 important that they impact directly upon the rights of all 10 indeterminant sentenced prisoners.

1 CALIFORNIA BOARD OF PAROLE HEARINGS

2 D E C I S I O N

3 PRESIDING COMMISSIONER PEREZ: We have 4 received all the information received from the 5 public and relied on the following circumstances 6 in concluding that you are not suitable for 7 parole and that would pose an unreasonable risk 8 of danger to society or a threat to public 9 safety if released from prison at this time.

10 Sir, let me back up for just one moment and just 11 let me know that we are going to deny you for 12 one year.

13 INMATE MCCORMICK: Uh-huh.

14 PRESIDING COMMISSIONER PEREZ: The main 15 factor, or one of the main factors, is the 16 gravity of the offense, in that after reviewing 17 the facts of this crime, it is the opinion of 18 this Panel that the offense was carried out in a 19 especially cruel and callous manner, in that the 20 unarmed victim was shot at close range at torso 21 piercing his aorta resulting in his almost 22 immediate demise, and that according to the 23 autopsy, he died within minutes of having been 24 shot. In addition, sir, the motive for this 25 crime was very trivial in relationship to the 26 offense, in that it appears to have been

1 committed as a result of a argument between 2 other individuals that really didn't involve 3 you. Furthermore, sir, this particular crime 4 created the potential for additional victims, in 5 that there was another individual in the vehicle 6 at the time of the offense. Sir, these 7 conclusions are drawn from the statement of 8 facts, wherein according to the record, the 9 murder victim was killed in the parking lot of 10 the Seasider Club on August 8th, 1983, at 11 approximately 11:00 p.m. The cause of death was 12 a gunshot wound to the heart. An investigation 13 led police to information indicating that 14 yourself and Alfred Johnson Jr. went to the 15 Seasider parking lot. Johnson approached the 16 passenger side of the auto occupied by Stephen 17 Edwards and Alvin Brooks. McCormick approached 18 the driver's side and a verbal dispute erupted 19 between Johnson and Edwards. McCormick pulled 20 out a handgun, which he pointed at Brooks. The 21 dispute between Edwards and Johnson grew heated, 22 a shot was fired and Edwards was struck when the 23 bullet from the -- from McCormick's weapon.
24 McCormick and Johnson fled the scene in an auto 25 later traced to McCormick's residence.
26 Furthermore, sir, the record does not reflect
27 FRANK MCCORMICK C-78307 DECISION PAGE 2 11/14/05

1 that at the time of the offense that you did 2 anything to aide this particular victim. The 3 other factor that we looked at is denying you 4 for one year, sir, is that at the time you
5 committed the offense you were approximately 31 6 years of age and you had a very minimal criminal 7 history, in that you only had, according to the 8 rap sheet, a misdemeanor conviction for 9 disturbing the peace. There is nothing in the 10 record to substantiate that you've previously 11 been convicted of gambling. Furthermore, we do 12 note that at the time you committed the offense 13 you were on active duty. Is that correct, sir?
14 Active duty in the U.S. Army? We took into 15 consideration as well the latest psychological 16 report, sir, that is favorable. This particular 17 report is authored by staff psychologist William 18 Gamard, G-A-M-A-R-D, dated August 29th, 2003, in 19 which the psychologist indicates that if 20 released to the community he believes that your 21 violence potential is estimated to be no higher 22 than the average citizen in the community. In 23 terms of your parole plans, sir, I do note for 24 the record that you have very good parole plans.
25 There is no requirement that you parole to your 26 county of last legal residence, and quite
27 FRANK MCCORMICK C-78307 DECISION PAGE 3 11/14/05

1 frankly, you can parole somewhere else and you 2 think there is a better opportunity for you to 3 do better in a different community, we certainly 4 would encourage it. And we do note for the 5 record that it is your plan to parole into a 6 residential treatment program. We do have a 7 letter verifying that, to the effect, in the 8 Oakland area, and then it is your plan to live 9 with your ex-wife in the Sacramento area after 10 completing this six-month program. In addition, 11 although there's not a specific job offer, we do 12 note for the record that you have a number of 13 marketable skills that you would be able to 14 utilize upon your release to parole, 15 specifically in the area of dry cleaning, small 16 business machines, as well as a furniture
17 assembler. Further, we do note for the record 18 that you've provided to this Panel today, sir, 19 information which indicates that you have been 20 very active in trying to obtain information 21 regarding employment resources that would assist 22 you in obtaining employment upon your release to 23 parole, and that's very commendable, sir. Sir, 24 the other factor that we did take into 25 consideration is the fact that between 1984 and 26 1998 you have incurred some 115s, and you've not
27 FRANK MCCORMICK C-78307 DECISION PAGE 4 11/14/05

1 incurred any 115s since that time period. You 2 did incur a 128 in 1999, but we don't weigh that 3 in making our decision. We take into 4 consideration the 115s and it is the opinion of 5 this Panel, sir, that you must be able to 6 demonstrate that you can go a longer period of 7 time with no 115s before you can be found 8 suitable for parole, in that from 1984 to 1998
9 you were incurring 115s. That's a 15-year 10 period, and you've now gone six years without 11 any 115s. Again, you must be able to 12 demonstrate to the Panel that you can go an 13 extended period of time without receiving any 14 115s, and that's the reason we gave you the one-15 year denial as opposed to a denial that's any 16 longer than that. Furthermore, sir, we would 17 like to commend you for not having received any 18 115s since 1998, and also for the Inmate
19 Employability Program laudatory chrono that you 20 received this year, as well as other laudatory 21 chrono in your file, as well as for completing a 22 variety of FEMA courses, and for your 23 participation in AA. However, these positive 24 aspects of your behavior do not outweigh your 25 factors of unsuitability, and as a result we're 26 going to deny you for one year. Sir, your most

1 psychological report is favorable. However,
2 when you come before the Board the next time
3 around, I would venture to say that if you
4 continue doing what you've been doing, in terms
5 of your program, you'll probably receive another 6 favorable psychological report, so the Panel
7 will have not only a recent one but a 2003 8 positive psychological report to consider during 9 your next consideration hearing, so as a result, 10 we're going to ask for another psychological 11 evaluation. We're going to ask the psychologist 12 to, again, determine your violence potential in 13 the free community, as well as the significance 14 of alcohol as it relates to your commitment 15 offense and your ability to refrain from using 16 that substance because, most likely than not, if 17 you are found suitable for parole, what will 18 happen is the Panel will probably give you a 19 condition that you cannot use alcohol since you 20 had been using alcohol at the time of the 21 offense, and also to explore to what extent 22 you've come to terms with the underlying cause 23 of the commitment offense. Again, that will be 24 an opportunity for you to make another favorable 25 impression on another psychologist and have two 26 psychological reports that are favorable when

PSYCHOLOGICAL EVALUATION FOR THE BOARD OF PRISON TERMS
(REVISED AUGUST 1998)
PAROLE CONSIDERATION HEARING
SEPTEMBER 2003 LIFER CALENDAR

CORRECTIONAL TRAINING FACILITY, SOLEDAD
AUGUST 29, 2003

This is the ninth psychological evaluation for the Board of Prison Terms on inmate Frank McCormick, CDC# C-78307. This report is a follow-up of the last psychological evaluation of 04/20/99. This report is the product of a personal interview, conducted on 08/29/03, as well as a review of his Central file and unit health record. This single contact interview was for the express purpose of preparing this report.

The inmate was informed of the nature and the purpose of the interview, and the lack of confidentiality inherent in the present assessment. He was also informed that a report for the Board of Prison Terms would be prepared. He understood this, and agreed to participate.

PSYCHOSOCIAL ASSESSMENT

I. IDENTIFYING INFORMATION:

Inmate McCormick is a 52-year-old, divorced, African-American male. As for religious affiliation, he said he goes to church sometimes (he went to a service two years ago; he has a Bible, which he reads sometimes; he prays sometimes).

II. DEVELOPMENTAL HISTORY:

There is nothing new to add in this section.

III. EDUCATIONAL HISTORY:

There is nothing new to add in this section.

IV. FAMILY HISTORY:

Inmate McCormick's mother is still living, and resides in Sacramento. On one side of her apartment is the inmate's former wife (his second marriage), and on the other side of his mother's apartment lives his daughter of his former wife. He is regular contact with them, and states that his mother is coming to visit him soon. He reports that his grandmother died in July 2002. He said he has a total of four daughters and three sons from different marriages.

V. PSYCHOSEXUAL DEVELOPMENT AND SEXUAL ORIENTATION:

There is nothing new to add in this section.

VI. MARITAL HISTORY:

Inmate McCormick states that he divorced his fourth wife in November 2001. The woman he has referred to as his "fiancée" (with whom he once tried to obtain family visits, but had lacked evidence of obtaining a divorce at the time) is his second wife.

VII. MILITARY HISTORY:

There is nothing new to add in this section.

VIII. EMPLOYMENT/INCOME HISTORY:

Since the last psychological report of four years ago, inmate McCormick has completed vocational dry cleaning. He had formerly been a captain's clerk, and has subsequently gone on to work in the PIA wood products area.

IX. SUBSTANCE ABUSE HISTORY:

Inmate McCormick acknowledges social drinking of alcohol, and smoking of marijuana at parties, but he denied ever abusing substances. He said he doesn't know why he was given a diagnosis of alcohol abuse in past reports. He said he continues to attend Narcotics Anonymous.

X. PSYCHIATRIC AND MEDICAL HISTORY:

Since the last report, inmate McCormick continues to take medication for diabetes and hypertension. In addition, he has arthritis, and medication for that, as well as allergic rhinitis and degenerative joint disease in his knees. More recently, he said that he had his kidneys tested due to the presence of blood in urine; he had a test last Tuesday.

XI. PLANS IF GRANTED RELEASE:

There is nothing new to add in this section, except that his mother now lives in Sacramento, and his grandmother has passed away, as stated above.

CLINICAL ASSESSMENT

XII. CURRENT MENTAL STATUS/TREATMENT NEEDS:

Inmate McCormick appears to be his stated age of 52. He was appropriately dressed and groomed. He was coherent, cooperative, calm, and alert throughout the interview. His speech was clear and readily understandable. His flow of thought and affect were within the normal range. There were no hallucinations or delusions noted. He was fully oriented. His intellectual functioning was estimated to be within the average range. His attention and concentration were adequate for the purposes of this examination. There was no evidence of a mood or thought disorder. His insight and judgment appeared to be intact. He showed good insight into his commitment offense.

CURRENT DIAGNOSTIC IMPRESSIONS:

AXIS I: No Contributory Clinical Disorder.
AXIS II: No Contributory Personality Disorder.
AXIS III:
 1) Diabetes mellitus.
 2) Hypertension.
 3) Allergic rhinitis.
 4) Arthritis.
 5) Degenerative joint disease (knees).
AXIS IV: Incarceration.
AXIS V: GAF = 85.

Should this inmate at this time be given a parole or release date, his prognosis for maintaining his present gains in the community is excellent.

XIII. REVIEW OF LIFE CRIME:

Asked his mistakes on the day of the commitment offense, inmate McCormick said, "Even being there. My wife tried to get me to go home, but I went down there with my friend, my crimee." Other mistakes were, "Having my gun with me. Even getting involved in the madness." Asked what illegal behaviors he did, he replied, "Carrying a gun," (which he stated was in his shoulder holster, and which he admitted was an illegal concealed weapon that he had carried for many, many years), and the other action was, "That I shot the man." He denied the truth of what a witness had said, that he had held his pistol to one of the victims' temple. He said that he and his partner were going to go fishing, but his partner had gotten into an argument with the victim who died a few days before. He saw the victim parked in the parking lot behind a bar. There were two other men in that car. He said that his partner "wanted to squash the whole thing." He explained that by this he meant that his partner wanted to forget the whole argument to have it resolved. "That's when they got into it." He said that the victim pulled a knife on his partner. His partner grabbed the victim's arm, and took the knife away from him. The inmate said about himself, "I went to the car, and told the other guy to get out so he wouldn't get involved in it, and stand back—because I used to go out with his sister, Duchess." He said the victim made a verbal threat by saying, "I'll blow both of you mother f-ckers away," and the inmate said, "And then he goes to reach under the seat. That's when I pulled my pistol. My intention was to hit the seat." When asked what he meant by this, he said that it was his military training to first give a warning shot, but he didn't really have time to do that. He denied ever claiming in the past that he saw the victim's gun. He said, "I didn't see the gun. I don't know what he's got under the seat." He said that he had carried a pistol in a shoulder harness for many years, and had gotten into different types of arguments and scuffles, but had never felt he had just cause to use his pistol. He regrets getting involved in his friend's argument with the other man. He said that he regrets what he did. He takes responsibility for it, and said at the end of the interview, "I think about it every day; I think about how I could do it different." He claimed that the victim's gun was later found under the seat, but that the written report mentioning this was lost. He also said that his partner did not know he had a gun, and that his friend would have been killed if he hadn't acted: "You have to help your friends."

MCCORMICK, FRANK

XIV. ASSESSMENT OF DANGEROUSNESS:

- A. This inmate has not received any further CDC-115 violations since the last report four years ago. Therefore, it is felt that he would pose a less than average risk for violence when compared to this Level II inmate population.
- B. If released to the community, his violence potential is estimated to be no higher than the average citizen in the community.

XV. CLINICIAN OBSERVATIONS/COMMENTS/RECOMMENDATIONS:

- A. This inmate is competent and responsible for his behavior. He has the capacity to abide by institutional standards, and has generally done so during his incarceration period.
- B. This inmate does not have a mental health disorder which would necessitate treatment, either during his incarceration period or following parole.
- C. As this inmate denies having any drug or alcohol problem, no recommendations are made in this area, but the inmate is to be commended for continuing to go to NA meetings.
